Help the PA Legion get HGTV's support for homeless veterans residence

Home and Garden Television is hosting a competition on its Web site for a Dream Home

Giveaway on March 15. One of the houses vying for the prize is a transitional residence for homeless veterans in Philadelphia. The program is operated by the Pennsylvania American Legion Housing for Homeless Veterans Corp., and it's asking the Legion family to visit the HGTV Web site and vote for its home at 4245 Romain St. You can vote once a day until March 2.

Illinois post's membership skyrockets

Eight years ago, Crang-Bennett Post 103 in Clinton, Ill., was dead in the water. Membership had slipped to 15 members, and the post home was crumbling. The city of Clinton, located between Bloomington and Decatur, was in danger of losing its Legion presence. Not anymore. Thanks to a revitalization effort, smart business decisions and an outpouring of support from members of the community, the post's membership has increased more than 1,000 percent. A new 720-square-foot building is about 85 percent completed, and the post itself has a renewed sense of purpose.
