American Education Week

What? Recognize the contributions made by schools, school boards, administrators and teachers to our cherished American way of life.

Where? In public and private schools in every community.

Who? By all citizens interested in the education of their children and grandchildren and who continue with their involvement in today's schools.

How? By visiting their child's school and talking with their teachers and/or observing classes or activities.

When? The specific days will vary from community to community but the national observance will be during the week of November 13-19, 2011.

Organizational Suggestions

Planning:

- Preparation for an American Education Week observance should begin in early September and continue until American Education Week has been observed.

Prior to September 6

- Post and unit chairmen should determine the organizations to be asked to have representatives serve on the planning committee.
- Groups to be contacted include: school board, school administration, faculty, PTA, student council and anyone interested in education.

Week of September 12

- Set a meeting date
- Select a coordinating chairman
- Review past observances and discuss all possible activities for this year
- Assign subcommittees to investigate tentative suggestions as to finances, time involved, material and manpower, place of event, speakers' publicity and special invitations

Week of September 19

- Review each subcommittee report
- Select the activities that are workable and fit the interest in your community
- Assign subcommittees to the various phases of the activities
- Be sure to keep your members current and involved

Week of October 11

- Meet to discuss problems and progress as reported by individual chairmen
- Plan for detailed work needed for complete success of each activity such as printed materials, parking, seating, food, babysitting and guides

Week of November 1

- Finalize all plans for the next week
- See that all activities, including time and place, are reported to the news media – newspapers, television and radio

Suggestions for Post & Unit Input with Planning Committee

Advertise–Publicize

- A signed proclamation by the mayor
- Use spot announcements on radio and TV
- All school "open house" times, dates and school locations
- Through posters, street banners, billboards and bumper stickers

- Write a letter to the editor

Sponsor

- A poster, art and essay contest
- A "Know Your America" program
- A class to meet in a vacant store or shopping mall to be observed by the public
- School passes to school activities for senior citizens
- Exhibits of student work and special projects
- American Legion School Award Medal to be presented at end of year awards program
- An annual scholarship
- A public forum to create understanding of local educational systems' needs
- A Careers Night

Promote Americanism

- Present flags, subscriptions to The American Legion Magazine, copies of American history documents
- Decorate store windows with Americanism and Legion youth program items
- Enlist Boys/Girls Staters and Oratorical participants as speakers for civic groups, schools and assemblies
- Provide a speaker and a program for the students on Veterans Day, November 11
- Distribute "Need a Lift?" and "A Guide for Parents and Students"

Additional Ideas

- Honor educators with a banquet, party, social hour or certificate of appreciation
- Assist with an "open house" and distribute American Legion materials
- Have houses of worship mention American Education Week activities in weekly bulletins
- Include retired teachers in the community for all activities

Public Relations Assistance

To assist the post and unit chairmen with the public relations effort, the following items are included as suggestions. These items must be retyped with blanks appropriately filled before submitting the release to newspapers, radio or television stations.

Suggested News Release

Plans for community participation in the observance of American Education Week, November 13-19, 2011 were released today by _____ Name of Post _____, ___ Number of Post ___ of The American Legion by Post Commander _____ Full Name _____ and Unit President _____ Full Name _____.

Representing Post No. _____ on a special planning committee for the annual observance are: _____ list all involved - give full names _____.

Ninety years of concern and interest will be observed November 13-19, 2011, during the annual nationwide observance of American Education Week. This year's theme is: "Great Public Schools: A Basic Right and Our Responsibility."

Since 1921, The American Legion, its Auxiliary and professional groups have promoted, with good cause, the idea of visitation to our schools.

Though the reasons for their initial activities have changed, these groups and others continue to lead the way in seeking the aid and assistance of every concerned American for better schools.

American Education Week is not just for parents and educators, it's for everyone. With the aid of statistics, it is quite apparent that many citizens have not visited their local schools since their own graduation from high school. Exercise your right and responsibility in 2011 and visit the school of your choice.

This year's theme should remind each of us that we have a duty and a responsibility to see that our children are prepared to take up the roles of citizens and leaders in the years to come.
